

Hallett Road

Burnside, Erindale, Stonufell, Wattle Park

Earlier name(s) if different from present name

Warland's Road.

Origin of earlier name

Named after James Warland (1795- 1875), local landowner who ran sheep, angora goats and cattle on the Burnside hillsides.

The two maps illustrating the road in The Paddocks Beneath differ in the spelling. One shows Warland's Road, the other Warlands Road.

Origin of present name

Named after John Hallett (1804-1868).

John Hallett was a pastoralist and one time resident of Ilfracombe which is near the top of Stonyfell Road. He was one of the earliest colonists, arriving in 1836 on the Africaine and later was Member for Sturt in the House of Assembly. He also lived in Stonyfell House at one stage.

Hallett Cove also commemorates his name. He was leasing property in the area and discovered the cove when searching for some lost sheep.

In 1844 he partnered with his brother Alfred taking up the Willogoleechee run around the Hallett area in the mid north. During the disastrous drought of the 1860s they lost 100,000 sheep.

Year in which street acquired present name

Sources of information

Colman, D. (ed), The First Hundred Years, p. 63.

History of John Hallett (1804-1868).

Warburton, Elizabeth, The Paddocks Beneath, pp. 4 (map), 24, 43, 197 (map).

Hambour Place

Wattle Park

Origin of present name

Named after Mr A.M. Hambour.

Mr Hambour was Consul for Lebanon and owner of land in this area when it was subdivided.

Year in which street acquired present name

1966

Sources of information

Private information from Kate McInnes.

South Australian Directory, 1965 and 1967.

Hamilton Street

Erindale

Origin of present name

Unknown.

Possibly named after George Hamilton, Commissioner of Police for South Australia from 1867 to 1882. He was reputed to be a son of Lady Hamilton and Lord Nelson and was a frequent visitor to Dr Wyatt's house Kurralta in Burnside. He died at Kurralta in 1883 following a seizure he had after taking part in the ceremony connected with opening parliament.

Also Dr Wyatt's son William lived nearby at 82 Lockwood Road for a while.

Year in which street acquired present name

Sources of information

Cockburn, Rodney, What's in a Name, p. 95.

Colman, D. (ed), The First Hundred Years, p. 73.

Burnside Street Names and their Origins

H

Hanover Walk

Dulwich

Origin of earlier name

When the suburb was laid out this was an unnamed pathway. The Burnside Council later decided that the paths should have names so that they could be more easily identified.

Origin of present name

Named in recognition that Kitchener Avenue had been named Hanover prior to World War I.

Brunswick was the name of the British-German Royal family. It is also a town from which many settlers migrated to South Australia.

(See also Kitchener Avenue, Dulwich.)

Year in which street acquired present name 1995

Sources of information

Corporation of the City of Burnside, Report from Manager Engineering Services to Works Committee, 21 Aug. 1995.

Harriet Lucy Drive

Glenside

Origin of present name

Names after Harriet Lucy.

Harriet Lucy was the first matron of the Parkside Lunatic Asylum when it moved here in 1871. She held the position until 1901.

This was one of several new roads that were established as a result of the development of the Glenside Hospital Campus with the names confirmed by Council in Feb 2014. The roads that were established at that time were Cramond Drive, Eucalyptus Lane, Harriet Lucy Drive, Karrayarta Drive, and Mulberry Road. The name Alexander Deane Street was also assigned at that time even though the road had not yet been built.

The hospital was originally established on the 134 acre Section 264 here in 1870 when it was known as the Parkside Lunatic Asylum. It carried that name until 1913 when it was renamed the Parkside Mental Hospital and then again renamed Glenside Hospital in 1967. With the advances of treatment options, new drugs and home care, further development with the less extensive accommodation of the Glenside Health Services facilities was completed in 2014.

The Adelaide Studios of South Australia Film Corporation moved into the main precinct.

Year in which street acquired present name 2014

Sources of information

1870-1970 Commemorating the Centenary of Glenside Hospital, p. 62.

Hauteville Terrace	Eastwood
---------------------------	-----------------

Origin of present name

Named after the home Hauteville which stood just north of this street.

The name Hauteville was given to the house in 1868 by a onetime owner John Hocart, a merchant who came from the Island of Guernsey in the Channel Islands, and named the house as a link with his homeland.

He leased the property in 1868 and later added a second storey to the single storey house which he furnished in heavy splendour. Four children were brought up at Hauteville, but only Ellen Mary (1859-1934) lived a full life span. In 1894 she married Edward Robilliard (1859-1929) from Alderney on the island of Guernsey. He then managed Hauteville and the family affairs. In 1923 he organised the subdivision of Hocart's Paddock at the back of the house when thirty-nine allotments were placed on either side of Hauteville Terrace.

The house remained in the family till 1934. It was finally demolished in 1961 and a multistorey office block was built the next year for the Head Office of ETSA (Electricity Trust of South Australia). ETSA vacated the building in 1994 to move to the head of Anzac Highway and the building on this site stood empty for some years. Finally in 2005 it was converted into residential apartments.

(See also Dequetteville Terrace.)

Year in which street acquired present name

Sources of information

Colman, D. (ed), The First Hundred Years, p. 51.

Warburton, Elizabeth, The Paddocks Beneath, p. 265.

Haven Road	Skye
-------------------	-------------

Origin of present name

Unknown.

One of several streets in Skye with names that are descriptive of the landscape.

Year in which street acquired present name

Sources of information

Hawke Street	Linden Park
---------------------	--------------------

Origin of present name

Named after William Henry Hawke.

William Hawke was resident of Wiltoo Wurlie at 11 Beaumont Common for a long time.

Year in which street acquired present name

Sources of information

Private information from Ross Hawke son of William Hawke.

Burnside Street Names and their Origins

H

Hawthorn Crescent	Hazelwood Park
--------------------------	-----------------------

Origin of present name

Named after the hawthorn bush.

This street and other nearby streets were part of the Hazelwood estate owned by the family of Francis Clark. In 1914 the major part of the land was sold to the Government to be retained as open space and become Hazelwood Park, but the area around the house was subdivided to become Hawthorn Crescent and Olive Grove. The Clarks established a large garden which may have included hawthorn and olives.

Other streets in the vicinity with names associated with the Clark family and the Hazelwood estate are Davenport Terrace, Hazelwood Avenue, Hillstow Place, Howard Terrace, Olive Grove and Sidney Place.

For further information see those other street names.

Year in which street acquired present name c. 1918

Sources of information

Hill, R. & Hill, F., What we saw in Australia.

Private information from John Clark.

Warburton, Elizabeth, The Paddocks Beneath, p. 85.

Hay Road	Linden Park
-----------------	--------------------

Origin of present name

Named after the Hon. Alexander Hay (1820-1898).

Alexander Hay came from Dunfermline in Scotland in 1839 and bought Section 297 (bounded by Greenhill Road, Glynburn Road, Cooper Place and Devereux Road) where he built Linden. He was a leader of the community, playing a prominent role in government, social and business affairs. He also built the prominent house Mount Breckan which stands high on the hillside at Victor Harbor and served as his summer house.

The house Linden which was on the south side of Dryden Avenue was demolished in 1967, and final subdivision of the estate took place.

Hay Road does not pass through what was the main part of the Linden estate, but it is possible that Sir Alexander Hay may have owned land in this vicinity. (See Mariner Street, Linden Park).

(See also Dryden Avenue, Hazelwood Park)

Year in which street acquired present name

Sources of information

Warburton, Elizabeth, The Paddocks Beneath, p. 175.

Hayward Drive	Mount Osmond
----------------------	---------------------

Origin of present name

Possibly named after Sir Edward Hayward.

However Sir Edward was the owner of John Martins store and lived at Carrick Hill in Springfield so it is not evident why the road should be named after him. It was originally constructed to act as a fire escape road for Mount Osmond residents.

Year in which street acquired present name

Sources of information

Warburton, Elizabeth, The Paddocks Beneath, p. 92 (map).

Burnside Street Names and their Origins

H

Hazelwood Avenue Hazelwood Park

Origin of present name

Named after the property Hazelwood.

Hazelwood was owned by the family of Francis Clark from 1853 to 1914 and was named after a boy's school Hazelwood in Birmingham where Mrs Caroline Clark's father Thomas Hill was headmaster.

Other streets in the vicinity with names associated with the Clark family and the Hazelwood estate are Davenport Terrace, Hawthorn Crescent, Hillstow Avenue, Howard Terrace, Olive Grove and Sidney Place.

(See also those other street names.)

Year in which street acquired present name

Sources of information

Private information from John Clark.

Smyth, E. C., Sir Roland Hill, The Story of a Great Reform, pp. 12-16.

Warburton, Elizabeth, The Paddocks Beneath, p. 80.

Heatherbank Terrace Stonyfell

Earlier name(s) if different from present name

Victoria Terrace.

Origin of earlier name

Queen Victoria.

Origin of present name

Unknown.

Other streets in the vicinity that have names ending in bank and which can be associated with plants are Brierbank Terrace, Fernbank Terrace, Myrtlebank Terrace and Rosebank Terrace.

Year in which street acquired present name

Sources of information

Hector Lane Dulwich

Earlier name(s) if different from present name

None.

Origin of earlier name

When the suburb was laid out this was an unnamed night cart lane. The Burnside Council later decided that the lanes should have names so that they could be more easily identified.

Origin of present name

Named after John Hector.

John Hector who was manager of the Savings Bank of South Australia purchased a large portion of Section 263 as an investment for £2,500 in the 1850s. It became known as the Village of Dulwich or 'Hector's Paddock'.

Year in which street acquired present name 1995

Sources of information

Corporation of the City of Burnside, Report from Manager Engineering Services to Works Committee, 21 Aug. 1995.

Warburton, Elizabeth, The Paddocks Beneath, p. 274.

Burnside Street Names and their Origins

H

Henry Martin Square Magill

Origin of present name

Named after Henry Maydwell Martin (1846-1899).

Henry Martin (known as Harry) was accountant and later owner of the Stonyfell Winery which had been established originally in 1858 by Henry Clark and Joseph Crompton. For some years from 1888 Henry Martin lived in Ilfracombe House.

The street was formed from land that was formerly part of Norwood High School.

(See also Clark Street, Stonyfell and Crompton Drive, Ilfracombe Drive and Joseph Avenue, Wattle Park)

Year in which street acquired present name 1996

Sources of information

Private information from John Nordeli, developer of the area.

Warburton, Elizabeth, The Paddocks Beneath, pp. 45, 54.

Clark – Martin family history, The Hatbox Letters, p. 146.

Hermitage Road Auldana

Origin of present name

Named after the grape variety Hermitage.

Hermitage is the name of a hill near Valence in France. This very common red wine grape, which is also called Shiraz is often blended with other wine grapes. The well-known Penfold's Grange Hermitage is a blend of Shiraz (Hermitage) with other grapes.

Other streets in Auldana with names associated with grape varieties are Gamay Court, Hermitage Road, Sylvaner Avenue, Shiraz Place, Traminer Way and Verdelho Court.

The land was originally vineyards belonging to the Home Park estate and the Auldana Winery until they were subdivided.

(For further details of Home Park see Patrick Auld Drive, Auldana.)

Year in which street acquired present name

Sources of information

Evans, L., Pocket Guide to Australian Wines.

Warburton, Elizabeth, The Paddocks Beneath, p. 20.

Hewitt Avenue Linden Park, St Georges

Origin of present name

Named after the Hewitt family.

John Hewitt purchased the Highfield estate and house from its builder Edward Drew. The house still stands, nearby on Drew Grove

John Augustine Hewitt married Monica Chapman (1831-1874), daughter of Edward Drew. Their son Austin Ignatius Hewitt (1869-1921) and his wife Marguerite Rose (née Bradley) lived on in the house, but after his death the surrounding land was sold and subdivided.

(See also Austin Crescent, Drew Grove and Highfield Avenue all in St Georges.)

Year in which street acquired present name

Sources of information

Warburton, Elizabeth, The Paddocks Beneath, p. 134.

Hewitt Avenue

Rose Park, Toorak Gardens

Origin of present name

Named after Mr Hewitt, solicitor to the South Australia Company.

The South Australia Company owned Section 262 and when it was subdivided the suburb was named after the Chairman Sir John Rose. Other streets in the vicinity with names associated with the South Australian Company are:

Partners	Gurney, Close, Webb, Swaine
Auditors	Watson, Grant
Solicitor	Hewitt.

Year in which street acquired present name 1876

Sources of information

Mortlock Library (SA), South Australian Company Annual Reports.
Warburton, Elizabeth, The Paddocks Beneath, p. 284.

Heyne Lane

Beulah Park

Origin of present name

Named after the Heyne family of the adjacent local plant nursery on Norwood Parade.

Ernst Heyne (1825-1881) obtained a Diploma in Botany at Leipzig University but later emigrated because of a duel in which his brother Carl had shot and killed a military officer. Although Carl fled to America, Ernst fled to Melbourne in 1848. By 1854 he was employed at the Botanic Gardens where he drew one of the earliest designs for the gardens under the directions of the famous director and botanist Dr von Mueller.

He moved to Adelaide in 1869 living at 96 Sydenham Rd., Norwood and established a plant nursery. His son Carl, (1876-1948) a graduate of Prince Alfred College and Roseworthy Agricultural College, continued the business but also lived and grew at a leased 10-acre property at Summertown. In 1928 he transferred the nursery to the current site on Norwood Parade mainly and moved to live there in 1931. Carl's son Waldemar (Wally) (1913-2003) went to Norwood high School and later joined the business which was expanded to include trees and shrubs. He also bought 24 acres at Mt Lofty to use as a production nursery.

By the beginning of the 21st century the two main shareholders in the business were two of his sons, Roger and Garry - the fourth generation of Heynes.

Year in which street acquired present name 2000

Sources of information

Warburton, Elizabeth, The Paddocks Beneath, p. 257.
Heyne's Nurseries website www.heyne.com.au/gardencentre

Burnside Street Names and their Origins

H

Heyne Place

Beulah Park

Earlier name(s) if different from present name

Scott Street

Origin of earlier name

This road was originally the southern extension of Scott Street but was renamed in 2002 after the extensions to the public gardens took over the roadway and thus divided the road into two discreet components.

See Scott Street, Beulah Park.

Origin of present name

Named after the Heyne family of the adjacent local plant nursery on Norwood Parade.

For further details see Heyne Lane.

Year in which street acquired present name 2002

Sources of information

Warburton, Elizabeth, The Paddocks Beneath, p. 257.

Heyne's Nurseries website www.heyne.com.au/gardencentre

High Street

Burnside

Earlier name(s) if different from present name

Laughton's Road.

Origin of earlier name

Named after Edward Laughton.

Laughton owned the property Ivymeade which was bounded on the south by this road, and on the east by Hallett Road. Ivymeade is now accessed from Nilpinna Street.

Origin of present name

When the 'village' of Burnside was laid out in about 1860 this was the main street through it - hence probably the reason for the name.

In earlier times in England when travel was hazardous and the traveller was likely to be attacked, it was safer to travel on a route that was on high ground rather than on low ground or valleys. Thus many villages became established on high ground along the roads and the main street through the village was the High Street. The name for the main road has remained ever since and is still found in many towns and villages in England even if the road is not on high ground.

Year in which street acquired present name 1860

Sources of information

Historical information from Richard House.

Warburton, Elizabeth, The Paddocks Beneath, pp. 4 (map), 5.

Burnside Street Names and their Origins

H

Highfield Avenue	St Georges
-------------------------	-------------------

Origin of present name

Named after the house Highfield.

The road follows a line one building block's length south of the northern boundary of the old Highfield estate. This estate comprising the southern half of Section 293 and the northern half of Section 294, was purchased by Edward Drew in 1850. The west boundary aligned Portrush Road, the east aligned Sunnyside Road and the south was along what is now the northern boundary of Seymour College Girls School.

The house (still standing at the end of the 1990s in Drew Grove) was originally called Fairside and later known as Highfield House and then just Highfield.

(See also Austin Crescent, Drew Grove and Hewitt Avenue all in St Georges.)

Year in which street acquired present name

Sources of information

Warburton, Elizabeth, The Paddocks Beneath, p. 137.

Hill Street	Burnside
--------------------	-----------------

Origin of present name

Unknown.

The road was probably given this name because it is on the side of the hill.

Year in which street acquired present name

Sources of information

Hillside Avenue	Glen Osmond
------------------------	--------------------

Origin of present name

Unknown.

The road was probably given this name because it is on the side of the hill.

Year in which street acquired present name

Sources of information

Hillstow Place	Hazelwood Park
-----------------------	-----------------------

Origin of present name

Named after the English property of Hillstow.

Hillstow was the residence of M. Davenport Hill and his family. Davenport Hill was the brother of Caroline who married Francis Clark of Hazelwood.

Other streets in the vicinity with names associated with the Clark family and the Hazelwood estate are Davenport Terrace, Hazelwood Avenue, Hawthorn Crescent, Howard Terrace, Olive Grove and Sidney Place.

(See also those other street names.)

Year in which street acquired present name

Sources of information

Private information from Jim Crompton and John Clark.

Burnside Street Names and their Origins

H

Hillview Street

Dulwich

Origin of present name

Unknown.

The road was probably given this name because there is a view of the hills to the east.

Year in which street acquired present name

Sources of information

Lane, Peter, information in possession of Burnside Library Local History Collection.

Holden Street

Kensington Park

Origin of present name

Named after James Alexander Holden.

James Holden (1835-1887) emigrated from Walsall in Staffordshire in 1852 and in the early 1880s settled at Arowie with a fifteen acre estate and garden. The house faces the street, later becoming the Girton Girls School and subsequently part of Pembroke School.

The area was originally subdivided in 1880.

See also Walsall Street, Kensington Park.

Year in which street acquired present name 1880

Sources of information

Buttfield, N., So Great a Change: the story of the Holden family in South Australia.

Warburton, Elizabeth, The Paddocks Beneath, p. 246.

Hollard Street

Frewville

Origin of present name

Named after the Hollard family.

Emanuel Hollard (1824-1898) established a wood yard and chaff mill with a weighbridge in front in this vicinity. The business was then passed to his son Caleb Charles and his grandson Frederick Emanuel (1875-1925). Later the business passed to Jack Dickens who added the two storeyed shop and post office which is now Redman's Bodega.

Year in which street acquired present name

Sources of information

Warburton, Elizabeth, The Paddocks Beneath, p. 261.

Burnside Street Names and their Origins

H

Holly Grange Court Beaumont

Origin of present name

Named after the house Holly Grange.

Holly Grange is a large bluestone house on the southern side of Cooper Place, north of the Common, and originally built by G. Thomas Duell (1809-1884).

The use of the name for this road which would have been on Ferndale land rather than on Holly Grange land might almost seem to be a planners error! Ferndale Court would seem to be more suitable.

Year in which street acquired present name Late 1980s

Sources of information

Observation by Richard House.

Warburton, Elizabeth, The Paddocks Beneath, pp. 167, 150 (map).

Holton Street Glenside

Origin of present name

Probably named after a Mr Holton but which? Possibilities are:

- Charles Holton Burnside Council Inspector
- Bill Holton Burnside Council Foreman
- George W. Holton.

Year in which street acquired present name

Sources of information

Burnside Library, Local History Collection.

Homestead Grove Skye

Origin of present name

Unknown.

The road was probably given this name because it led to one of the properties of Patrick Auld Home Park or Bushy Park.

(See also Bushy Park Drive and Patrick Auld Drive, Auldana.)

Year in which street acquired present name

Sources of information

Burnside Street Names and their Origins

H

Hood Street

Linden Park

Origin of present name

Named after Admiral Horace Lambert Alexander Hood.

Hood was an Admiral during the World War I and the 4th Viscount of the name. He died 1916 and was commemorated by the South Australian Company which owned the land at the time of the subdivision.

Other streets in the vicinity with names associated with Admirals of the First World War (1914-1918) are Beatty Street, Craddock Street, Jellicoe Street, Keyes Street and Sturdee Street.

Year in which street acquired present name c. 1922

Sources of information

Burnside Library, Local History Collection.

Warburton, Elizabeth, The Paddocks Beneath, p. 141.

Horsnell's Gully Road

Skye

Origin of present name

Named after the adjacent Horsnell's Gully.

John Horsnell (1812-1895) took up part of Section 1180 in a gully off Third Creek in the foothills above Magill in 1842. He was a dairyman who used the land for grazing his cattle and market gardening.

Year in which street acquired present name c. 1980

Sources of information

Cockburn, Rodney, What's in a Name, p. 104.

Hallack, Toilers of the Hills, pp. 138 (map), 151.

Howard Court

Glen Osmond

Origin of present name

Named after Canon Walter Henry Howard of Glen Osmond.

Canon Howard owned the property at 3 Gill Terrace from around 1920 until he died in 1947. His wife Henrietta Howard (née Wiles) was the daughter of J.H. Wiles, owner of the former Miner's Arms Inn at 20 Mt Barker Road, and Manager of Hardy's Glen Osmond quarry. She continued to live there until she died in 1960 aged 99 and they are both buried in St Saviour's Cemetery.

Walter and Henrietta (née Wiles) had five children, two boys and three girls.

Their older son Osmond John 'Jack' Howard, fought at Gallipoli and in Europe, returning to Australia in 1919. He returned to live in Glen Osmond in the 1950s, living in the house of his aunt Wilhelmina A. Wiles.

Their younger son Harold Hubert Howard owned a farm on the Eyre Peninsular.

Their youngest daughter Miss Una M. Howard inherited the property and sold it to a developer on condition that a plot would be kept for her. She built a house which could be divided into two so that her older sister Osyth and husband could live there as well.

The third daughter Evelyn married E.A. Snashall and lived in Clare.

Year in which street acquired present name Late 1960s

Sources of information

Warburton, Elizabeth, The Paddocks Beneath, p. 105.

Private information from Elisabeth Gobolos, a descendant of Canon Howard's.

Howard Street	Beulah Park
----------------------	--------------------

Earlier name(s) if different from present name

York Street and Victoria Street.

Origin of earlier name

Named in 1851 when subdivided by John Amery.

Origin of present name

Named after Frederick Howard.

Frederick Howard had a twenty three acre farm in this area. On his death his widow Rosina subdivided eleven acres in 1879 and it became a suburb then known as Rosaville. Twelve further acres were subdivided as Norwood Park using finance from George Brand of Kensington.

Thus came three street names - Frederick (now Verdun), Howard and Brand.

(See also Brand Street and Verdun Street Beulah Park)

Year in which street acquired present name 1879

Sources of information

Burnside Library, Local History Collection.

Warburton, Elizabeth, The Paddocks Beneath, p. 252.

Howard Terrace	Hazelwood Park, Leabrook
-----------------------	---------------------------------

Earlier name(s) if different from present name

First Street.

Origin of earlier name

The first street west of Burnside Road (now Glynburn Road) when the suburb Knightsbridge was first laid out.

Origin of present name

Named after John Howard Clark (1830-1878).

Howard Clark was Editor of the Registrar and lived in Hazelwood Cottage (32, Howard Terrace) which had been established by his father Francis Clark of Hazelwood.

Other streets nearby in Hazelwood Park with names associated with the Clark family and the Hazelwood estate are Davenport Terrace, Hazelwood Avenue, Hawthorn Crescent, Hillstow Place, Olive Grove and Sidney Place.

(See also those other street names for further information about the Clark family and Hazelwood Park.)

Year in which street acquired present name c. 1918

Sources of information

Private information from John Clark.

Warburton, Elizabeth, The Paddocks Beneath, p. 84.

Clark – Martin family history, The Hatbox Letters, pp. 13 and 196.

Burnside Street Names and their Origins

H

Hübbe Court

Burnside

Origin of present name

Named after Mrs E.H. Hübbe or the family.

Mrs Hübbe was a well known schoolmistress in Leabrook and her husband Captain S.G. Hübbe was an explorer of the Australian interior who later died in the South African War. Her daughter Doris subsequently married Allan Simpson of Undelcarra which is the large house on the other side of the creek from this road. The land in the area was part of the Undelcarra estate and the tank at the end of the road (now the Burnside art and craft centre) was used to store water for the gardens.

Year in which street acquired present name Late 1960s

Sources of information

Warburton, Elizabeth, The Paddocks Beneath, pp. 12, 71.

Hughes Street

Linden Park

Earlier name(s) if different from present name

Hood Street.

Origin of earlier name

See Hood Street, Linden Park.

Origin of present name

Named after Henry Hughes (1830-1924).

Henry Hughes, Chairman of Burnside Council (1872-1874), was a well-known Adelaide butcher and supervisor of Hughes Slaughterhouse. The slaughterhouse was located in Tusmore on part of what had originally been William Rogers' Tusmore Farm. The slaughterhouse had been established and run by his brother William Hughes until his death in 1863.

Year in which street acquired present name

Sources of information

Civic records of South Australia 1936.

Warburton, Elizabeth, The Paddocks Beneath, pp. 12, 71.

Hunt Lane

Rose Park

Earlier name(s) if different from present name

None.

Origin of earlier name

When the suburb of Rose Park was laid out by the South Australian Company this was an unnamed night cart lane. The Burnside Council later decided that the lanes should have names so that they could be more easily identified.

Origin of present name

Named to commemorate the fact that The Adelaide Hunt Club rode in this area for over forty years around the turn of the century.

Year in which street acquired present name 1995

Sources of information

Corporation of the City of Burnside, Report from Manager Engineering Services to Works Committee, 21 Aug. 1995.

Hyde Street

Tusmore

Origin of present name

Unknown.

Possibly named after Constable William Hyde, who was shot and subsequently died while trying to apprehend three masked men whom he thought were about to rob the local office of the Tramways Trust at Marryatville on the evening of 2nd January 1909.

The incident is commemorated by a tree and a plaque in the garden behind the old school near the north east corner of Tusmore Avenue and Kensington Road. However the actual shooting occurred opposite, on the west side of Tusmore Avenue, and the plaque which had been installed there was moved when the supermarket and carpark were built.

(As the street is not particularly close to the location of the shooting incident, this possible origin of the name may be somewhat fanciful. Richard House.)

Year in which street acquired present name

Sources of information

Adelaide Chronicle, 9 Jan 1909.

Burnside News Review, 3 June 1981.

William Hyde plaque on Tusmore Avenue.

Hyland Terrace

Rosslyn Park

Origin of present name

Named after Thomas Francis Hyland.

In 1861 Thomas Hyland married Georgina Ann Penfold the only child of Dr Christopher Rawson Penfold and his wife Mary. The combined efforts of the two families helped bring about one of Australia's most successful winemakers with Thomas Hyland being the organiser in Victoria.

Although the Penfold's lived at The Grange east of Penfold Road, they also owned the land to the west (now Rosslyn Park) which was partly vineyards and partly known as Dr Penfold's Paddock. After Dr Penfold's death in 1870 the land was subdivided and sold between 1878 and 1880.

(For further information about Dr Penfold, see Penfold Road, Magill, and Gordon Terrace and Mary Penfold Drive, Rosslyn Park.)

Year in which street acquired present name

Sources of information

Warburton, Elizabeth, The Paddocks Beneath, pp. 222, 229.

Burnside Street Names and their Origins

H