

Tree Species Fact Sheet

Dwarf Yellow Bloodwood

Corymbia eximia 'nana'

This medium sized native tree, adds a unique visual appeal to any streetscape. With its attractive bark, large leaves and flowers, the species can be used as feature specimen in any setting. 'nana' is a dwarf variety, making it more appropriate for areas with restricted growing environments. The flowers attract many bird and insect species.

Height: 7-8 metres

Crown Spread: 6-7 metres

Type: Native ornamental tree

Origin: Australia

Evergreen/Deciduous: Evergreen

-  Flowers: Creamy white
-  Bark: Light grey
-  Fruit pod: Greenish brown
-  Foliage: Glossy green/brown
-  Autumn foliage: Glossy green/brown

